| 7. If the disability justifies an extension of the interim examination time, the responsible person on behalf of the Examination Board will register in SAP this entitlement to an extension. If a disability justifies other measures to be taken, the academic adviser can take the necessary measures. The student can consult the study monitor to check which facilities have been granted to them.   | Advice OLC;approval FGV(7.13 m) |
| 8. The decision as referred to in paragraph 5 may specify a limited validity of the  | Advice OLC;                             |

Programme objective and exit qualifications

Objective

The Master's programme in Communication and Information Studies aims to provide students with specialist knowledge, skills and insights in the field of effective communication within genre-specific frameworks. Students who graduate from the Master's programme in Communication and Information Studies are thus excellently equipped to understand and analyse developments in the field of language, media and communication in the light of prevailing views on the effectiveness of genres and contemporary discussions on genre purity, hybrid genres and specific developments within the specializations that relate to, for example, the importance of 'genre bending' and 'genre blending'.

The 'genre' theme prepares students for academic practice within the specific field of language and communication, both in journalism and in the field of writing and translation, but also in institutional settings and in relation to multimodal communication. The orientation towards issues and discussions within the fields of professional practice that are relevant to the specializations enhances the relevance of the academic profile with respect to the relevant professional fields.
