SUMMARY OF WORK EXPERIENCE

Marise van Amersfoort works as project manager, advisor and trainer in a variety of international projects. She is certified mediator (Mediation Federation the Netherlands) and involved in the acquisition and implementation of a variety of projects in which mediation and conflict resolution play a role. Disciplines covered in these projects are Law, Psychology, Social Sciences, Theology and Natural Resource Management. This can be either at the level of:

- Public service delivery (mediation between citizens and the government)
- Reconciliation (mediation in criminal cases)
- Community mediation
- Multi-party mediation (involvement of parties at different levels/interstate)
- Awareness raising, institutionalisation of mediation, development of acknowledgement of mediation
- Trauma healing

Overarching themes are conflict diagnoses and styles, communication, negotiation, trust, security, emotions and interests. Marise provides training on mediation and conflict resolution, focusing on knowledge, skills and attitude, clarifying (academic) theories and results of monitoring and evaluation studies that underlie specific practices and processes. Training on these topics has enabled participants to make a difference in the way conflicts are looked at; they can contribute to solving the conflict, to the sustainability of the solutions, as well as the experience of the solution.

In facilitating training courses, Marise applies an interactive approach to stimulate experiential learning and creativity, aiming to allow an in-depth understanding of the topic. As a mediator, she applies a facilitative approach.

Prior to these projects, Marise has managed various capacity building and cooperation projects for universities, ministries and NGOs on topics like “Fair Trial principles” (Rwanda), “Free Trade Agreements”, “Advocacy skills in the area of democracy, law and human rights”, “University Governance” and “Transformational Leadership” (Indonesia).

Various post-graduate and research projects Marise has coordinated are the “Training Indonesia’s Young Leaders Programme”, the “Islam Research Programme Indonesia”, the “SKILLS programme” (South Africa) and the “Desmond Tutu Programme” (South Africa). At Leiden University she managed the set-up of the international Bachelor’s programme ‘International Studies’.
